THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

The Old Transfer Game

Washington, Oct. 28. AS one thing after another happens to dismantle and diminish the Office of Price Administration, its complete dissolution within a matter of months is recognized as inevitable. This being the case, there is a quite natural apprehension in the ranks of the great army of OPA employees — estimated at close to 35,000.

MOST of these have been on the pay roll for three or four years now. Among the bulk of them the desire — and the will — to stay on is very strong. Its always is in these cases — so strong, in fact, that a large number of them, one way or another, always do succeed in doing exactly that. Of course, when the final dissolution occurs, appropriations for OPA will automatically be discontinued, and there being no money to pay with, the pay roll automatically disappears — and all 35,000 of the OPA army will be out.

AT LEAST, that is the theory. Logically, that should happen — but it practically never works out that way — and probably will not in this instance. For example, take the Office of War Information. When the war ended all need for the OWI was obviously over. Always a sloppily managed, bumble puppy sort of agency, its unavailing prompt liquidation was in accord

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The United Nations General Assembly was pleasantly surprised when Andrei Y. Vishinsky, speaking for the Soviet Union, gave up the effort to keep off the agenda Australian and Cuban proposals to abolish or modify the veto. Mr. Vishinsky maintained, however, that these moves were "very dangerous."

The chief of the British delegation, Philip J. Noel-Baker, pledged his nation's support to the international control of atomic energy as he warned that an atomic armaments race had already started.

The Argentine representative urged the General Assembly, in a move interpreted as a criticism of Secretary General Lile's condemnation of Generalissimo Franco, not to "contemplate the possibility of and downfall in the old-established human societies and centers of culture." However, other delegations were in almost unanimous support of Mr. Lile.

Foreign Secretary Bevin declared that three ideologies with basic differences — those of the Soviet Union, Britain and the United States — must be reconciled in some way at the forthcoming meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers to speed progress toward world peace.

DOUBLE-CROSS OF LABOR

Among the important developments of the last few weeks which has largely escaped public notice is the neat double-cross of labor-unions by the White House brain-trusters.

The breakdown of the wage-price formula has been so rapid, and de-controls have come so thick and fast, that the CIO-PAC spokesmen appear not yet to have awakened to what has happened.

This is simple. De-control has been almost universal in fields which are not unionized. On the other hand, in unionized production, controls are still as tight as ever.

This is a situation with its funny side. If the National government had set out deliberately to give the unions exactly the opposite of what they wanted, they could not have done so more effectively.

The dream which certain groups of labor leaders have had for generations is that happy day when labor can receive ever higher wages and be called upon to spend progressively less and less for whatever it has to buy.

This dream involves two or three essential points. One is that the "ceiling" on wages be of the elastic type, which can be boosted when convenient. Another is that there be tight controls on those who produce food and other necessities for which union members have to spend their earnings. A third is that non-union production be closely regimented, while unionized industry remains relatively free.

But, see how the Truman somersault on prices and wages has reversed this situation.

Food is, of course, the major item in the list of those things labor must buy. Food also is largely the output of non-unionized groups — farmers, ranchers, etc.

But now almost all food controls have been dropped. Farmers are back under substantially a free-enterprise system. Prices will cover costs plus profit; and will reflect all increases in the cost of production.

In nearly all of the highly unionized industrial fields, however — steel, motorcars, electrical equipment — price controls are still in effect, and so rigid that production is

WOMAN HELD ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Mrs. Helena L. Pollard, Colored, Held for Action of The Grand Jury

IS NOW IN CO. PRISON

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 26 — Given a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, on Tuesday, Mrs. Helena L. Pollard, 22, colored, was formally charged with murder. She was held for the action of the grand jury.

The defendant is now being held in the county prison.

Mrs. Pollard and her husband, William H. Pollard, 28, who died from gunshot wounds received at the hands of his wife, were visiting at a home, near here, Labor Day, when they became engaged in a quarrel.

According to Chief County Detective Anthony Russo and State Policemen of the Doylestown sub-station, who investigated the shooting, Mrs. Pollard admitted firing the first shot.

Her husband also managed to take a shot at his wife, injuring her in the shoulder. The quarrel followed an argument about the husband sitting in a car with some female friends.

Cpl. J. J. Kelly, who was in charge of the local sub-station of Penna. State Police that day, and Dr. Fred J. Phillips, Quakertown physician, who is connected with the office of Deputy Coroner Raymond D. Tice, M. D., offered testimony.

Assistant District Attorney Willard S. Curtin represented the Commonwealth and pressed for a murder charge.

The husband-wife shooting fray took place at the home of Colonel and Mrs. Archibald B. Hubard, Shady Retreat road, where Mr. and Mrs. Pollard, who are from the South, were guests of another colored family.

TOWNSHIP SCHOOLS GREATLY OVERCROWDED

One Hundred and Sixty-One Children Are On Half-Sessions

NEED NEW BUILDINGS

The ever-increasing elementary school enrollments in Bristol Township has brought about seriously overcrowded conditions with more pupils on half-session than in any other school district in the county, according to Charles H. Boehm, county superintendent of schools.

The school board has rented all buildings located in the township which could be adapted for school purposes and still there are 161 or 15% of the enrollment on half-session. Another 120 or 12%, are in substandard classrooms. In order to meet the emergency the school board is asking the voters to approve a bond issue of $150,000, of which $100,000 is to be used for elementary school purposes, while $50,000 will be used to enlarge the junior high school.

Paul Gruber, assistant county superintendent, who is in charge of attendance data, predicts that within three years, Bristol Township will have over 300 pupils on half-session unless additional buildings are erected. The rate of increase in the elementary school enrollment exceeds 50 pupils a year, according to the data submitted by Andrew Jackson, supervising principal of schools.

Members of Council some months ago awarded the contract for a new cooling tower, but equipment to be used with it cannot be procured, and it may become necessary to cancel this contract.

Realizing something will have to be done, two alternatives were suggested. One was that the plant be closed for about three years and that during that time all of the current needed in this borough for lighting and power purposes be purchased from the Penna. Power and Light Company. It was thought that during the three-year interval preparations might be made for the floating of a bond issue to raise money with which to make extensive improvements to the plant.

The other alternative suggested was to buy a part of the current from the Penna. Power and Light Company, and to produce the remainder at the Perkasio plant.

Quite a sum of money has been spent for making repairs to equipment at the plant, but the question now confronting Council is whether the equipment can be kept in repair. In case of a complete breakdown, it was pointed out, it will become necessary to purchase all the current from the Penna. Power and Light Company.

Rogge Dismissed by Department of Justice

Washington — John Rogge, long a firebrand in the Department of Justice, was out of a job today because of a speech he made in spite of instructions from Attorney General Tom Clark and for violation of Department "ethics."

Clark summarily dismissed Rogge from his post as special assistant to the attorney general shortly after midnight.

Rogge, in an address at Swarthmore, Pa., Tuesday night, discussed details of Nazi political activity in the United States. He gave evidence of what he termed Nazi plans to prevent the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt in his last three presidential campaigns.

He also mentioned the names of Americans whom he said the Germans tried to use to defeat Mr. Roosevelt.

Clark specifically dismissed Rogge for discussing in public a report involving two persons — Gerald P. Winrod and Joseph McWilliams — in the government's mass sedition trial.

GIVES ADVICE TO GUARD AGAINST A 'LOST GENERATION'

Elmer A. Lissfelt, Guidance Co-ordinator at Abington, Is Speaker

SOLEBURY MEETING

Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs Has Its Fall Sessions

By Staff Reporter

SOLEBURY, Oct. 26. — A high school guidance coordinator addressing members of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs here yesterday afternoon, advised "If we recognize our problem now, we won't have a 'lost generation'. We must make the children and young people feel they 'belong', so there will be no feeling of maladjustment."

The speaker was Elmer A. Lissfelt, a member of the staff of Abington high school, who has had a wide experience with young people, including six years as director of a Y.M.C.A. camp. Mr. Lissfelt spoke before more than 130 members of Bucks County women's clubs in Trinity Hall, he being introduced by Mrs. Phillip G. Lewis, of Langhorne. The occasion was the fall meetings of the county federation.

Mentioning his vital interest in girls and boys, Mr. Lissfelt cited various cases that have been presented to him, thus showing the responsibility of the adults for the children and adolescents. How the "teen-agers need advice and understanding in cases of 'puppy love', maladjustments, physical handicaps, etc., was pointed out as the speaker mentioned the case of one girl, absent from school 31 days during the first semester, worried about her father's drinking, financial status of the family, and the fact that her ill sister was to be placed in an institution. "That girl could take dictation far in advance of others in her class, but her home life was a draw-back," was the comment of the educator. "We have a problem that is 'unfinished business'," he added as he considered the young men back from the armed service, in need of further schooling or of jobs. Here one case was cited of a G.I. who sought aid of the school officials, a good job being secured, and the young man being pleased. "Then while at a meeting of former service men he was advised against accepting it, being informed that a second group could better care for his job and training while on the job. We must work together, not try to outdo each other."

Considering discipline, Mr. Lissfelt informed that "It must start early. You can't wait until the children are 12, 14 or 16. One woman inquired if she should start paddling her four-year-old girl. I'll say she missed her best 'licks'."

Turning attention particularly to the school group, Mr. Lissfelt paid tribute to Charles H. Boehm, Bucks County's superintendent of schools; and Dr. Ruth Fedder, psychologist connected with the county office. He mentioned the health problem among children, telling of the maladjustments that have come to his attention during the past five years due to rheumatic fever. "Tell us at the schools when your children have any health handicaps. Don't be afraid to give us the truth concerning your child." In considering the handicaps experienced by some children and how the schools can help, Mr. Lissfelt mentioned one spastic case where arrangements were made whereby the boy did not have to carry any books to and from school. "And he is going through school at his own pace, and fitting himself for a place in life. When the child knows we are ac-

REBOUND IN RUBBER

One of the few pleasant surprises of this postwar period has been the swift rebound of the natural rubber industry. After the Japanese overrun Malaya and the Dutch East Indies, rubber became one of the world's scarcest commodities.

When the Allies regained these territories experts held out little hope that normal exports could be resumed for a long time to come. But, according to one official, the situation had changed "almost beyond recognition" in the last three months.

The first sign of that change has been the sharp drop in prices since last June. At that time, to prevent the price of a scarce commodity from soaring out of sight, an international committee agreed on a ceiling of 23½ cents a pound. Since then production has increased so fast that the United States has been able to buy new supplies at 20½ cents.

Months will elapse before the effects of this increase in supply will be felt in this country. Many weeks are required to transport rubber from the plantations on the other side of the Pacific to factories here and the amount brought in so far is only a small percentage of the nation's requirements. Moreover, reserves in this country had shrunk so low during the war that the quantity that can be imported during the current year can offer no serious competition to the vast new synthetic rubber industry.

But this is one shortage that is on the way to being met far more rapidly than anyone expected. That is something of a novelty in this day and age.

AIRLINE SAFETY

These past few weeks have been tragic ones for commercial aviation. Day after day has brought reports of fresh crashes with heavy loss of life, many of them on transoceanic routes. In their wakes comes a feeling that drastic measures may be needed to restore the enviable record that aviation was compiling before the war.

It is not difficult to find a plausible explanation for the recent sharp increase in fatal accidents. The volume of air traffic has been zooming upward since the end of the war. Many more planes are in service flying over longer and more hazardous routes than in the past. The advent of fall weather, always a difficult and often a treacherous season for flight, may also have played a part in the sudden increase in crashes.

being strangled. Moreover, as everyone knows, the government keeps wage controls in the fields where it keeps price controls; so that the industrial workers still are under close wage ceilings.

This situation is preposterous from any point of view, but bound to be especially so to the unions when labor wakes up to what has happened.

From a position of topheavy favoritism in the economic set-up, where the government was actually spending billions in tax money subsidies so that labor could do its buying at less than true cost, the labor unions have been switched over, by Mr. Truman's acts, to a position which is unsupportable.

Labor unions in the industrial field are faced with huge handicaps in getting the full production which is essential to their permanent well-being. Meanwhile, food and other prices, freed from controls, are on the upturn; and the government has retained its own power to deny higher wages as well as increased industrial commodity prices.

This is all very silly from the point of view of the whole public, as nothing could be more unworkable than an economy half of which is free and half of which is tightly "controlled".

As a matter of fact, however, such labor groups as the CIO-PAC have a very weak case when it comes to complaining, for the situation is the outcome of a series of desperate steps by the President to give this faction exactly what it said it wanted.

CIO wanted the OPA continued. The President risked his personal leadership in his party, and his prestige with the American public, to veto the first OPA compromise, and finally got the second OPA Bill through.

The CIO-PAC made the price of meat a test issue in the field of food. Meat was recontrolled and "rolled back", largely to satisfy CIO demands, at a time when sound reasoning called for letting the market get back on its own feet.

The roll-back of meat produced a meat-famine, which in turn produced a political insurrection that drove the President to drop nearly all food controls in a desperate bid to save the election.

The CIO-PAC chiefs simply bit off more than they could chew when they used their inside-track position with the Administration to move out of their own field into that of other American production.

Aside perhaps from a smattering of text-book information, the CIO "experts" knew nothing about the problem of dairying. Yet, the price of milk and butter was made one of the bases for the price-control parades last summer.

It is ironic that, butting into the business of other forces of production, the CIO managed to get all controls smashed in the fields where they wanted them enforced, and have controls continued only over their own industries—where they are least eager for them.

The paradoxical situation is merely another proof of the hopeless incompetency of the present National Fathers to deal with the problems of the American people.

WHAT MADE LUTHER GREAT?

Hundreds of biographies of the great Reformer have been written—in English, Latin, German, French, Danish, Swedish, Italian, Spanish, Russian, Polish, Lithuanian, and other languages.—Why? Says Monsignor Jos. McMahon: "In studying the life and work of Martin Luther, we must recognize frankly that he was one of the greatest personalities in the history of the human race." Or to quote Preserved Smith, noted historian: "Among the great prophets, the last of world importance, Martin Luther, has taken his place."

Or to repeat the words of the great English divine, Alexander Maclaren: "There were three men in the past who reach out their hands to one another across the centuries, St. Paul, St. Augustine, and Martin Luther."

But what was it that made Martin Luther "an Atlas who lifted the world upon his shoulders and carried it over into another age," as one historian describes him?

It was nothing but Luther's rediscovery of the Christian Gospel! Or, as another writer puts it: "Luther's first claim on our gratitude consists in this, that he took the truth from the shelves where it had reposed, dust-covered, through centuries, that he lifted the truth from the casket in which it had lain, smothered with sacerdotal garments, and called with a loud voice, 'I say unto thee, arise!'"

Luther taught nothing new! He taught no doctrine which Christ had not taught. But he did insist that men must teach and believe everything that Christ had revealed to them.

He insisted that all religion must be based on the Bible alone. 2 Tim. 3:16. He insisted that man is saved by grace alone, that salvation is 100% a free gift of God's mercy. Rom. 11:6. He insisted that man becomes a partaker of this free salvation alone by faith in the Atonement of the Savior. Gal. 2:16. And he insisted that the individual Christian has direct access to the father-heart of God through Jesus Christ without any human intermediary. 1 Tim. 2:5; 1 Pet. 2:9.

That was the secret of Luther's greatness. He had rediscovered the Gospel of Christ, which St. Paul had said was "the power of God." With that power on his side, the success of his tremendous undertaking was assured.

quainted with his health problem, he relaxes and gets along better." At this point he mentioned that what subjects one high school pupil follows should not be gauged by what the other student takes. "The pupil should take the subject for which he is best fitted, or which will best help him in the business or work he plans. It is not always a question of whether Johnnie takes Latin but whether Latin takes Johnnie." "Interest in life and adjustments are far-reaching; they go far beyond the school."

Suggestions offered as to what communities can do to aid the girls and boys included: A place for young people to "let off steam," and using the school and church building "seven days a week." In conclusion he said: "The better education and guidance you have, the better man you will have to guide the destiny of the nation."

During the afternoon session, Mrs. William B. Moyer, Perkaskie, president of the county federation, called upon Mrs. Harold Bodtke, vice president of the Southeastern District, Penna. Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Bodtke gave information regarding the four days' visit to Philadelphia, starting today, of women from abroad attending the United Nations Council affairs. The Penna. The registrar, Mrs. Reuben Ely informed that 14 clubs were represented, the attendance being over 150.

Activities of the 11 junior clubs in the county were recounted by Mrs. Joseph Large, Jr., of New Hope. Mrs. Large mentioned that membership varies from 20 to 70. Projects and interests of the juniors were mentioned.

The invitation of Newtown New Century for the federation to meet at Newtown in the spring was accepted. Mrs. Walter Ely, New Hope, reported for the courtesy committee.

with public sentiment and there were no tears shed except, perhaps, among the employees. The OWI heads resigned and a large majority of the 20,000-odd pay-rollers rushed to get other jobs in private life.

BUT not all of them were able to do this—or wanted to do it. About 6,000 remained. Most of these were transferred to the State Department.

Others managed to get on the pay rolls of various Federal boards and commissions. Thus when the supposedly complete OWI liquidation occurred, instead of the Federal pay roll being reduced by the whole 20,000, a fourth of that number managed to stay on.

The excuse for the State Department absorption of so many was that they were needed to man the new postwar State Department news and information service, an affair of somewhat doubtful merit, which barely escaped annihilation at the hands of Congress and is still in a precarious position. But, if it hadn't been that, there would have been other excuse.

IT IS no easy job to reduce a Government pay roll. Nothing demonstrates this better than latest figures of Chairman Harry F. Byrd, of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures. These show that a year after the war, in all departments, save only War and Navy, the number of civilian jobholders on the Federal pay rolls has been increased instead of decreased. This does not make sense but it is none the less true. Though the emergency war agencies, said Senator Byrd, had officially reduced their jobholders by 105,364, the fact is that 67,881 of these are still on the pay rolls transferred to the old line agencies.

"THOUGH," he continued, "we have slowed down to an almost natural peacetime pace, the vast majority of office workers during the war still remain on the pay roll. The conclusion that jobs have been manufactured in order that they may be retained is inescapable." This is a serious charge by a responsible man. It was made just at the close of the last session of Congress, and Senator Byrd warned that he is determined in the coming session to put an end to this business of transferring personnel from liquidated agencies to manufactured jobs in others.

THIS makes the prospects for the OPA army dark, indeed. For, in addition to the determination of Senator Byrd, there is the probability that in the next Congress the Republicans will control the House and have increased representation in the Senate. One of their main objectives will be to reduce the size and cost of the Federal machine. Of course, this ought to be done, but there is no use crediting the Republicans with too much zeal for the right. Quite naturally, the great bulk of the Government jobs today are held by Democrats and New Dealers. This makes it much easier for the Republicans to be noble.

A MESSAGE OF INTEREST to all who await deliveries of new Chevrolets

We want you to know that everything possible is being done to speed deliveries to you; but production still lags far behind schedule—even though Chevrolet has built more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer from January through September 1946

WE REALIZE how eagerly you are awaiting delivery of the new Chevrolet you have ordered from us, and we want to pass on to you the latest information received from the Chevrolet Motor Division, even though that information isn't too encouraging at this time.

It is true that Chevrolet leads all other manufacturers in total production of passenger cars and trucks from January through September 1946, despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of this year. It is also true that Chevrolet has continued to maintain its lead in total production during the third quarter of 1946. And yet production is still running far below desired levels, with the result that Chevrolet's output of cars and trucks through September 1946 was only 38.7% of the number produced during the corresponding period of 1941.

This means it may take many months for the Chevrolet Motor Division to reach peak production of new Chevrolets—even longer to fill the unprecedented demand for this product of BIG CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST—and, for the present at least, "there just aren't enough Chevrolets to go around," much as we wish there were.

However, we want you to know that new Chevrolets are leaving the plants in the largest numbers possible today. The Chevrolet Motor Division tells us it is doing everything it can, in the face of continued suppliers' strikes, material shortages and manpower problems, to step up shipments to us and to all dealers, in accordance with a predetermined distribution plan assuring each dealer of his fair allotment, based on 1941 passenger car sales. And we, in turn, are doing our best to deliver new Chevrolets to our customers as rapidly as they are received and in the fairest possible way. We are too appreciative of your loyalty and goodwill—too grateful for your patience and understanding—to do anything less than continue to serve you to the very best of our ability.

KEEP YOUR PRESENT CAR RUNNING

Meanwhile, the most important car of all to you is the car you are driving now. May we suggest that you keep it in top running condition until you secure delivery of your new Chevrolet, by bringing it to us for skilled service now and at regular intervals. Remember—cold weather is hardest on old cars. Please see us for a complete check-up today. . . . And, again, thank you!

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. George E. Roswell, rector, St. James' P. E. Church

Almighty and ever-loving God, we pray that the memory of Thy saints of the past, who are guides for us in the journey of life, may ever be sacred in our hearts. Grant that we may ever be willing to sacrifice for Thy church even as they sacrificed, help us to remain steadfast in our moral convictions in the face of all temptations. Sustain us in every battle for righteousness, and grant that even though we pass through the Valley of the shadow of death we may fear no evil because Thou art with us. We ask it in Jesus name. Amen.

BRISTOL HIGH BATTLES TO A TIE MURRELL-DOBBIN

Local Eleven Outplayed The Visitors in Second Half

FINAL SCORE IS 6 TO 6

Bunnies' Offense Did Not Begin to Click Until Intermission

With the local team outplaying the visitors in the second half, Bristol High and the Murrell Dobbins Vocational School battled to a 6-6 stalemate last night on the high school field.

Held to two first downs in the first half, the Bunnies' offense did not begin to click until the intermission and then it registered seven first downs, a touchdown, and barely missed another touchdown when a penalty gave Dobbins the ball on fourth down.

The invaders turned on all its power in the second quarter of the game when they started a drive from their own ten and ended when "Johnny" Jones went over from the five-yard line for the touchdown. During this march of 90 yards, Dobbins made five of its nine first downs.

The Vocational School team had plenty of deceptive football in its menu and fed Bristol reverses, double-reverses, and oftentimes triple reverses along with fake plays. The visitors did not attempt many passes.

A 22-yard pass, "Jimmy" Sottile to "Kenny" Heath gave Bristol the deadlocking touchdown. Heath made a leaping catch of the pigskin and his momentum in diving for the ball almost made him fall over the outside of the line. But he stood inside and at the same time tightened his grip on the ball. Accardi fumbled the pass from center in an attempt to drive at the Dobbins line for the extra point.

Bristol made its second drive from their 45-yard line and this ended about six inches from touchdown land when a Bristol back ran towards the line of scrimmage instead of away. The Dobbins captain chose to take the play and ball instead of giving Bristol a penalty.

Towards the finish of the game, it was plenty rough and several times players were swinging blows at one another. The visitors seemed to start the slugging for they were penalized time and time again and one player was ejected from the tilt.

On the first play of the game, Dedarian ran the kickoff back to the 40. Mazzeo ripped off 4 yards at tackle but Iannucci got Roman for a loss and after a pass failed, Dedarian kicked to the Bristol 29. Accardi and Stiles failed at the line and Stiles booted to the Dobbins' 14. A penalty put the visitors back to the 6. Jones lost a yard on a reverse so P. Mazzeo kicked to Heath who ran to the 30 but fumbled and Dobbins recovered. Dobbins took a 15 yard penalty and Foltz tossed P. Mazzeo for a loss. Mazzeo's kick was blocked but a Dobbins player fell on it on the 11 and on the next try, Mazzeo booted to the 45. With Stiles leading the interference, Accardi got off on an end run and was dropped on the 15. But a bad pass from center sent Bristol back to the 35. A pass was completed, Sottile to Stiles and on the play, Dobbins drew a penalty to give Bristol the ball on the 10. But four plays did not gain and the invaders took the ball as the quarter ended 0-0.

Bristol was penalized five yards. J. Mazzeo gained 3 yards and Roman made it a first on the 25. J. Mazzeo netted 4 yards through the line and Katz got off on a run for a first down and followed this with a triple reverse which took the ball to the Bristol 47. Plays by J. Mazzeo and Katz netted another first down and after Mazzeo got 7 more yards and double-reverse carried Wingman Hammond to the six-yard line. J. Mazzeo gained a yard and Jones was stopped in his tracks. On the next play, Accardi had Jones for a loss but he got away and scored the touchdown to give Dobbins a 6-0 lead. P. Matteo's drop-kick for the extra point was wide of its mark. P. Matteo kicked to Rice who ran from the 15 to the 25. Natale gained 4 yards but Rice lost it on the next play. Stiles booted to J. Mazzeo who ran it to the Bristol 44. P. Mazzeo gained 8 yards off tackle and Jones made it the 30. Matteo and Jones collaborated to make another 1st down on the 19 but Dobbins again got a 15-yard penalty. Jones made 19 yards on a triple reverse and the half-time whistle sounded.

The Bunnies really went to work in the third session. Accardi got the kickoff on the 10 and ran it to the 29. Bristol was penalized 15 yards. "Moe" Caucei caught a "sleeper" and was out in the open, heading for a touchdown when he tripped and fell on the Dobbins 49. Accardi and Stiles hit the line for a first on the 33. Natale made three yards and after a Dobbins penalty, Accardi made it a first on the 22. After a pass and end run were failures, Sottile passed to Heath for a touchdown and the score. Accardi fumbled the extra point try.

On the kick-off, McGarry kicked beyond the goal and Bristol kicked back to J. Mazzeo who was dropped on the 35. Lebon failed to gain but Mazzeo made a first on Bristol's 45. Three line plays netted little and on the fourth try a pass was tried without success so Bristol took the ball. Sottile ploughed at center for 8 yards and Stiles made it a first on his 31. Accardi clicked off 9 yards and a 15-yard penalty brought the ball to Dobbins' 46. Lebon broke through and got Accardi for a loss and a pass failed as the quarter ended, 6-6.

A pass to Caucei who lateraled to Sottile gave Bristol a first down on the 20 and two line plays with Accardi and Sottile carrying the ball brought the ball to the 11. A short pass, Sottile to France made a 1st on the 9. After a pass failed Stiles marked off four yards to the five and then failed to gain on the next play. On the fourth down, Accardi moved to within inches of the touchdown but a Bristol penalty occurred and Dobbins took the ball. P. Mazzeo kicked out and Coles fumbled, Dobbins recovering on their 40. Punts and passes took up the remaining time of the contest as neither team made any headway.

Dave Cordisco and "Johnny" Rice were casualties on the Bristol team with both having failed to come to for quite a while after being hit in play.
